

I am not in favor of the new Low Power FM taking over FM translator services. Daily I listen to a FM translator station - in the morning before work, on my way to work, at lunch when I run errands, on my way home, and in the evening at home. The FM translator that I listen to, K-LOVE, is not offered in another form (regular FM or AM) in my area, so I believe that FM translators offer a service that is valuable in my community and serves the public interest. The FM translator that broadcasts K-LOVE is a non-commercial station and I support it through cash donations. If you will note - this station is solely supported through it's listeners. In my community and I think across the nation you will be doing a dis-service to me the listener by displacing current listened to FM translators with Low Power FM.
